

First Congregational UCC

On November 28th, we began the season of Advent. Part of the power of Advent is that we preach, proclaim that another world is possible and actively being plotted by God. We say that what is called "reality" is not all there is.

We desire and direct our lives toward a bigger, bolder, braver vision of what can be. Yet, we know there are voices that would call such bigger, bolder, braver visions, "foolishness" or "naive" or "silly". Some may scoff or sneer or jeer, but we know that God is not finished yet. We can choose to let cynicism and fear guide, ground us or we can be led by the lights of the Advent candles. We can decide that hope, peace, joy, and love are true and can be trusted.

It is not easy. It won't help you trend on Twitter. The way of faithfulness is about letting God's presence be part of our lives. When we, like Mary, let God interrupt and disrupt our lives, change happens within us and around us. While others stew in comparison and competition, we lean in toward compassion and care as more powerful than others.

We need a vision toward which we can go. Isaiah offers this to us during Advent. In Advent, we are going to lean in and listen to Isaiah cast what is possible with God. To be sure, Isaiah didn't live in a time when all was well. Violence, hatred, families torn apart by exile, dismay and discouragement were felt deeply. There is much of our present day that echoes what Isaiah faced.

Yet, Isaiah offers us another way to be. I find Isaiah's poetry powerful. Isaiah gives me a direction to set my soul and life. I encourage you to read the passages from Isaiah several times each week. How does Isaiah awaken your imagination, stir your soul? What does Isaiah have to say about hope, peace, joy, and love? How does these ancient words breathe new life into our lives in 2021 and 2022?

CREATION JUSTICE NEWS

Holiday Season "Green Tips," from the Green Team

Americans throw away 25 percent more trash than usual between Thanksgiving and New Year's — about a million extra tons of garbage each week, according to the National Environmental Education Foundation (NEEF), a Washington, D.C.-based nonprofit group devoted to helping people to be more environmentally responsible.

Listed below are ways to celebrate the spirit of the holidays, while giving a gift to the earth:

- Use reusable gift wrap and gift bags, and recycle wrapping paper and ribbon. Repurpose unused maps, comics for kids or, for larger gifts, printed pillowcases – things you already have at home.
- Save and reuse gift wrap and ribbon, and try using fresh greenery instead of store-bought bows. Why? Americans discard an estimated 38,000 miles of ribbon annually.
- Save on gift tags by writing the names of recipients directly on the gift, or color-coding gifts by recipient.

- Tell your friends and family that you're opting out of single-use wrapping paper and gift tags this year.
- Offer more eco-friendly host/hostess gifts, e.g., reusable drawstring pouches as wine bags, or for other presents, and carrying homemade baked goods in mason jars or decorative, reusable boxes.
- Keep a list of what you used and what you saved, and share it with your Green Team!

PEACE AND JUSTICE NETWORK NEWS

Peace and Justice Mission Group Message

Decades ago, my mother traveled to Alaska. They visited a small village on the Bering Sea, and went into its little church.

Behind the altar was a lovely Nativity scene. The Holy Family are in an igloo, Joseph and Mary kneeling reverently by the child, who is wrapped in furs. In the distance, great hunters are speeding across the snow toward them on dogsleds laden with gifts of walrus, seal and ivory. Above them all, a great star blazes through the Northern Lights.

All the people in the scene are indigenous Inuit.

She walked around for weeks asking: "What did Jesus look like?" She had never seen him depicted as anything other than blond, blue-eyed, and white. It was difficult for her to imagine him looking otherwise.

The great cathedrals of Peru have paintings of Jesus and the disciples as indigenous Quechua. Some African churches depict him as African.

If we are made in God's image, perhaps each of us can see ourselves mirrored in our image of God.

What do you think he looked like? ~ Lynne Woodman

Advent Artful Prayer

All are invited to the Artful Prayer session on Thursday, December 9, @ 2 p.m. via Zoom. We will be using the "A Less is More Christmas Devotional" for inspiration.

You can obtain the devotional from the church office, but don't need it to participate in Artful Prayer. Just bring paper, crayons/colored pencils/markers.

Contact Pastor Wes or the church office if you want the zoom link. We hope you can join us!

Little Free Library Project – Service Opportunity

The Sacred Conversations on Race group has a service opportunity to offer the entire congregation!

It has been agreed to build and maintain a little free library on the church grounds as a way of providing books promoting diversity to the public. Books will be for all ages.

Progress:

- We have a builder!
- Donations are coming in!

Our Needs:

- More donations to purchase books
- Donations of gently-used books
- A creative bookplate design for our stickers in each book
- Volunteers to maintain the library (tidy the display/add books). This can be as little as one week a month/or less.

If you would be interested in helping with this project or donating funds to buy supplies and books, please contact Nancy McElroy.

Christmas Love Offering ~ Mission Team

Christmas is coming and the season of giving to those who need it most is upon us. Every year the FCUCC Mission Team asks for your help in providing for our less fortunate neighbors in Sarasota and Manatee Counties. All of the organizations we donate to with our Christmas Love Offering are local or denominational. As always, we count on your generosity to make a difference.

This year we are supporting the following organizations who work hard throughout the year helping those who need it: All Faiths Food Bank and All Faiths Backpack program; Baby Basics and Children First; Resurrection House and Second Chance Last Opportunity; ALSO Youth, Family Promise, The Betty J. Johnson North Sarasota Public Library, SURE and the UCC Christmas Fund.

Members of the mission team will be speaking in church during Sundays in December about All Faiths, Baby Basics and Children First, and Family Promise. I know you are aware of the work that SURE has done in our communities since FCUCC is very involved with this and the SURE office is located in our building. FCUCC was one of the six founding members of Resurrection House which serves as a day resource center for the homeless of Sarasota County. Second Chance serves the Newtown community with youth programs and since the pandemic it has branched out to help the community with zoom seminars for parents as well as the distribution of food and baby supplies. The donation to the Betty J. Johnson Library will go to support The African American Cultural Resource Center at the library. The UCC Christmas Fund helps pastors and church personnel with emergency needs throughout the year.

Please celebrate with us the Good Works being done by these organizations. Last year we raised over $16,000 and we would love to increase our giving this year. As you know, prices have gone up and that affects those with limited resources the most.

There will be envelopes for your Christmas Love giving in the Narthex every Sunday or you can just send in your donation by marking Christmas Love on the memo line.

The Mission Team thanks you for your contribution. Your support is a blessing to our community.

~ Jan Andersen, Mission Team Chair

Ready Readers

Ready Readers is a book discussion group that meets on the second Thursday of every month at noon in the Oasis Center. Current lists of selections are available in the Syster Hall library as are several present and previously selected books.

We welcome and encourage the participation and input of new members even if you are not able to attend every meeting. For more information and further updates, contact Sandy Smith.

Please join us Thursday, December 9, at noon in the Oasis Center. We will be discussing "You'll Never Believe What Happened To Lacey" by Amber Ruffin & Lacey Lamar. New members are always welcomed.

Stitches of Love & Friendship

Many, many thanks to all of our wonderful knitters and contributors. A very large box of items ranging from infants to adults as well as a collection of notepads has been sent to our friends in Rapid City, South Dakota.

This is a very worthwhile project and the recipients are most appreciative ~ Ethel Rudy.

Community Meal – Stay Tuned

We continue our monthly ministry of serving and providing a hot, nutritious and balanced community meal at St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Because of the late date (December 28) we will announce our needs in the mid-week message as we get closer to the date.

Your offerings of food & fellowship are always appreciated ~ Carol Hagglund
